JO SAMPSON

Award-winning British designer Jo Sampson has joined forces with iconic crystal brand Waterford to create modern, relevant and exciting new products.

The London, Glacia and Elysian collections represent the second collaboration between Sampson and Waterford and heralds the company's evolution towards a more contemporary approach to designing with crystal. Sampson says: "These collections are not designed to be simply looked at and admired, but to be lived with daily inspiring a new relationship with the home environment." Working closely with Waterford's elite craftsmen in Ireland, Sampson's distinctive collaborative approach to design has allowed her to create a range which combines Waterford's trademark impact with a modern aesthetic.

Inspired by London's City Lights

The London Furniture Collection

Influenced by Technology

The London gifting range was conceived as complementary accessories to the furniture range which launched in 2012. Its demographic was primarily male-focused, specifically corporate gifting and executives.

The geometric design and compact shapes are modern in design, a sleek square grid adorns a range of objects from bookends and paperweight, to decanters and glasses.

Jo Sampson's London Collection for Waterford was inspired, quite simply, by the London skyline at night. For this dazzling collection of crystal office and desk accessories, Sampson chose a simple grid crystal pattern. The result is clean, contemporised simplicity which has a stunning interplay with light.

Dynamic Faceting

Jo Sampson's Elysian collection for Waterford is the ultimate in luxury and elegance for home entertaining. With a distinct nod to old world opulence whilst embracing a modern aesthetic, the collection includes stemware, gold tray and ice bucket which create a focal point in their own right.

The diverse collection invites the curation of a personalised drinking experience, with interplay between proportion, weight, size and subtle differences between the clear and amethyst stemware.

Presenting soft shapes and classic Waterford cutting, the collection's stemware and glasses are enhanced with a gold shadow gap. The effect is amplified with the introduction of amethyst-cased crystal, which creates rich, proportional depth and dimension.

Inspired by the purity of the arctic regions, the collection presents a bold and dramatic range of dressing table accessories. Working with blocks of refractive optical glass, the hallmark of the Glacia Collection is flat, polished surfaces presenting an angular geometric theme. Contemporary contrasts of gold accents and satin finished white metal create a luxurious dressing table landscape, where pieces can either stand alone or together.
