LISMORE BLACK

Waterford introduces Lismore Black, a fusion of technology and tradition

Synonymous with luxury living, the Waterford Crystal Lismore pattern has been popular around the world for more than 60 years.

This season Waterford introduces a new collection, Lismore Black, created through a fusion of technology and tradition.

The Lismore pattern, designed by Chief Designer, the great Miroslav Havel in 1952, was inspired by the architectural details of the stunning Medieval Lismore Castle, Irish home to the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire. The pattern also draws inspiration from the Georgian tradition of the original Waterford Crystal of eighteenth-century Ireland.

The Lismore pattern is the best-selling crystal pattern in the world, and is, as ever, bringing together generations of families. Its popularity is ever increasing due to the designers' unique ability to evolve the pattern and update itself for each new generation. In this latest form of the timeless classic, opaque black colour infuses drama into Lismore, creating a glamorous take on the universally loved crystal pattern.

Looking to the origins of the Lismore pattern to seek inspiration for the next evolution of Lismore, the River Blackwater, on the banks of which the castle stands, provided the spark of genius to create this latest collection. The striking black crystal evokes feelings of sophistication and grandeur reminiscent of gothic castles, with the light breaking through the deep cutting as though light shining through the leaded windows of the castle.

Comprising of drinkware pairs and barware accessories, the Lismore black collection is accentuated with statement pieces such as decanters and an ice bucket. This collection can be used as a stand-alone service or can be seamlessly mixed in with the traditional Lismore collection to create a stunning new look. Fresh, modern and exciting, the striking contrast of black on clear crystal, using the original shapes from 1952, helps emphasise the deep cuts and striking silhouettes that have always been the foundation of its appeal.
